DEFINITIONS

Listed below are explanations for each of the educational services provided by the Department of Health and Social Services, Department of Education and the Department of Services for Children, Youth and their Families.

Department of Health and Social Services

Division for the Visually Impaired

The Division for the Visually Impaired Education Services Program provides statewide-related services to visually impaired children from ages 0-21 within the school districts they attend. These services are designed to teach children skills, which will allow them to succeed in their regular educational environment and the community. These services include but are not limited to specialized instruction in Braille, orientation/mobility, vision utilization, etc., the provision of specialized textbooks, materials and equipment, and counseling for students and their parents. School age students with visual disabilities are included in district unit count totals, with the Division for the Visually Impaired providing related services. The Division for the Visually Impaired also has its own Vocational Rehabilitation Unit which serves the students after the age of 14.

Stackley Center

Educational services for school-aged (ages 4-20 inclusive) residents of Stackley Center are provided by the Howard T. Ennis School located in the Indian River School District. The Ennis School serves the educational needs of students with moderate to severe and profound disabilities in Sussex County.

Department of Education—Adult & Prison Education Resources

The Department of Education provides an Adult Basic Education Program for adult offenders incarcerated in four major prisons (Sussex Correctional Institution, James T. Vaughn Correctional Center, Baylor Women's Correctional Institution and Howard R. Young Correctional Institution) and two satellite facilities (Pre-Trial Annex in Prices Corner and the Morris Correctional Facility in Dover). All newly committed inmates are tested for educational placement. The academic program structure is based upon a GED level I, II, or III ranging from illiteracy to GED preparatory. Students, who complete the GED, may enroll in a high school diploma program through a local James H. Groves Adult Center where courses are offered in the prison. Delaware Correctional Center offers college level courses through Delaware Technical Community College, which leads to an Associate of Arts degree in Business or Data Processing. Each of the major prisons has a computer lab, which is used either for college courses or to provide supplemental instruction to the basic academic program. New Castle and Sussex County Vocational Technical School Districts each provide special education programs for offenders under the age of 21. Finally, the Education Department provides vocational courses in three prisons, which include carpentry, electricity, plumbing, masonry, janitorial services, food service and nurses' aid training.
