High Need Schools are defined by ESSA:

A school is classified “high-need” if it is in the top quartile among either elementary or secondary schools in three or more of the following:

- ♣ Percent low-income students
- ♣ Percent ELL students,
- ♣ Percent SWD,
- ♣ Percent underrepresented minority students,

OR if the school has more than 90% of their students classified as low-income, ELL, or underrepresented minority.
