Public Comment: I am so very impressed by the teachers, students and administrative team working tirelessly to help one another not only form an education community, but create one focused for the 21st century by utilizing Design Thinking. My daughter has been transformed into a confident young lady with the number of opportunities presented to her at the school and I humbly, and whole-heartedly, thank each and every person, including all the parents who are taking the chance with a new school. Thank you! Thank you!

Public Comment: In my experience, the administration and Board of Delaware Design - Lab High School have spent enormous time and resources ensuring that their obligations with regard to the legal, financial and operational requirements imposed upon charter schools have been met or exceeded. They have done an excellent job of maintaining transparency with the CBOC regarding finances and continue to work diligently to educate the community and their volunteers regarding the school. The campus is well-maintained and the students appear engaged and productive. I believe Delaware Design Lab High School is an asset to the community.
