Public Comment: I am so proud of the growth of Delaware Design-Lab High School. As a start-up school, all I see is continuous growth in its academics and student body. There are circumstances that are out of the control of Design-Lab, but I have found all within their power trying to resolve each and every issue to the satisfaction of every parent. The future looks very bright for the students, and the atmosphere of learning will only improve. As a member of the HQ Project, the thought processes and implementations are thought provoking and out of the normal educational atmosphere. This school will truly become one of Delaware's best institution for learning.
