

What's New with the ASQ?

Each and every child, birth to 5, will NOW have access to a free developmental screening as of Fall 2019!

What's New? Over the summer, your child care program will become registered as a 'provider' under the new school district ASQ link.

Jamie Walko, OEL contractor will send an IMPORTANT email containing your district's ASQ links with the subject line reading: ASQ CHANGE. Please watch for this email and save these links to share with your families!

Then, you will receive a follow-up email from donotreply@asqonline.com to set up your new password.

For any questions or issues related to the new ASQ process, please email Jamie Walko at: jamie.walko@doe.k12.de.us

What Should Child Care Providers Do?

Continue to educate families about the importance of developmental screening & provide the ASQ information to them.

Work with families to complete the ASQ for each and every child. Monitor the ASQ program to ensure parents complete both ASQ-3 and ASQ:SE-2.

Enter screening information received from families using paper versions. If the family doesn't complete the ASQ, request parental consent for a teacher (who spends 20 hrs. per week w/the child) to complete the screening.

Access your reports for the child level information you need. Once the school district reviews the ASQs, you will continue having complete access to all data just as you do now.

Notify the district and Birth to Three ASAP if you are up for Stars re-verification. At least one month advance notice is needed so that all screenings are processed.

Learn more about the ASQ for School District Child Find Teams & Birth to Three Staff on page 2. →

What's New with the ASQ?

School Districts and Birth to Three will maintain ASQ links.

School District Child Find Teams and Birth to Three Early Intervention Staff

School districts will place ASQ links on their early childhood websites.

School districts will reach out to all early learning programs in their districts to discuss this change and the best way to collaborate.

Set up early learning programs as 'providers' in the district online ASQ program to allow early learning providers access to children enrolled in their programs.

Birth to Three staff will review the completed ASQ screenings for children birth to age 3, and the school district will review screenings for children 3 through 5.

Birth to Three and School Districts will share results and activities with families, along with any needed follow up.

THANK YOU for making a difference by helping to ...

Reduce duplication of services and ensure specialists review screenings.

Provide data to examine trends in development and determine how to best allocate resources.

Reach more children, and assess their development earlier, so they have a greater chance to reach their potential!

